Congressman Sulzer Says That Ample Capital Is Available For Investments Here.

Largest Number of Timber Licenses For Any Month Issued In June.

The Vancouver Voters' List Reaches 6,000 Mark—The Fishing Outlook.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Vancouver, July 28.—Congressman Sulzer, of New York, says that British Columbia may look in the future to get $10 from New York for every one the province gets from Great Britain. Congressman Sulzer was the distinguished passenger that the trim United States revenue cutter has been waiting for in the inlet for some days. He is going to Alaska in connection with the Canadian-American boundary question and the United States fisheries, as a commissioner for the United States government.

The Congressman was reticent regarding the details of his trip, but it is one of the utmost importance no doubt, as he has figured conspicuously in the arrangement for the Alaskan boundary arbitration, and is a man much trusted by the government of the United States, and of great popularity in his own state of New York. What is more to the point, he is an enthusiastic admirer of British Columbia. He stated that in New York there was not the same lack of knowledge of Canada, he believed, as there was in London, and the more New York capitalists knew of British Columbia, the more they became interested. He stated that he had certainly been investigating the possibilities of Western Canada, and the province of British Columbia, and had been so impressed that he intended to give a lecture on his return entitled "Through Western Canada to Alaska." Congressman Sulzer is a prominent member of congress from the city of New York, and was mentioned at one time as the candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

The rush for timber licenses is evidently over. In June there were the largest number recorded than any of the previous months, while in the week just passed the applications for licenses have been probably smaller than any previous week, being three in number. There were also three licenses to locate coal. The three Jeffrey brothers were brought yesterday to Nanaimo by Provincial Police Officer McLeod. The Jeffreys, who are half-breeds, have received sentences of four years each for stealing sheep from the Liaspiti Island Sheep Company, asquith. The Jeffrey boys have been carrying on this profitable industry for some years, and the sentence was not thought too severe under the circumstances. The youngest of the brothers, Abraham Jeffrey, was arrested in Vancouver by the provincial police here, while arranging for the sale of a boom of logs which he brought down from Nanaimo.

There are now 6,000 names on the provincial voters' list. The list will close on August 14, and it is probable that several hundred more votes will be recorded. All votes held in abeyance on account of being registered outside of the city have been put on the list. Mr. Drysdale, president of the Alaska Packers' Association, telegraphed yesterday that more salmon had been landed on the Salmon banks that morning. This is satisfactory news, as it comes from so reliable a source. Better results are able to follow on the Fraser. The fishing on the Fraser was somewhat better last night, although the salmon are still not plentiful, the boats not averaging more than 25 each. The average on the Gulf of Georgia was 35, on the North Arm 200, on the main river about 20.

Fishing is reported on all the trout streams, but anglers are recommended not to visit the streams in the interior, as the mosquitoes are thick. The trout streams, however, are free from this pest.

Lee On and Hing, two Chinamen, have been brought down from Bessington and will serve four months for supplying liquor to Indians. A net-cutting case came up in Magistrate Alexander's court yesterday. A fisherman named Cline accused a Japanese of cutting his net, and claiming to have lost 800 fish. It was apparent from the evidence that the net had drifted down upon the Japanese, and he cut it to liberate his own gear. The Japanese was allowed to go, but was assessed the cost of the court and the damage he had done to the net.

J. T. Gerrard, of New York, son-in-law of Marcus Daly, and chief executor of the Daly estate, has decided to live in British Columbia and passed through here on Monday on his way to reside permanently at Hedley, B.C., to take over the superintendence of the Nickel Plate mines. Mr. Gerrard made the statement that by the Nickel Plate mines the Marcus Daly estate would reap itself for losses sustained from other ventures in British Columbia. The Vancouver Power Company have

THE MASCOTT OF THE RELIANCE

New York, July 28.—The challenge committee of the New York Yacht Club today selected the Reliance as its defender of the America cup, and there will be no further trial races. Commodore Bourne and Messrs. Forbes, Cornack and Robinson of the cup committee, and Oliver Iselin, managing owner of the Reliance, E. D. Morgan of the Columbia, and August Belmont of the Constitution, were at the meeting. Messrs. Morgan and Belmont were perfectly satisfied with the choice of the committee as both are of the opinion that the Reliance is the fastest of the trio.

The news that Reliance has been selected to defend the cup pleased Sir Thomas Lipton. He said: "I am very glad to hear this news. Had I been a member of the New York club committee, I would have voted for the Reliance. I believe that she is the best boat. In Shamrock III," he continued, "I know I have the best yacht that ever crossed the Atlantic to challenge for the America cup. If I win, I want to compete against the best yacht that America can produce. I believe that in Reliance they have a perfect type of American boat. I am as confident as ever I will lift the cup."

Chasing Folsom Escaped Convicts

Battle Between Desperados and Pursuers and one Prisoner Killed.

A Verdict of Murder Against Band For Killing of the Guard.

Placerville, Cal., July 28.—Of the 13 convicts who escaped from the prison penitentiary at Folsom yesterday, 12 are at large. Joe Murphy, who was serving a 14-year sentence for robbery, was shot dead tonight at Pilot Hill, (Gordon), the reported leader of the gang, who had been sentenced to 45 years for robbery, deserted his followers soon after they left the prison. It is not known where he went. The outlaws who remain together are making for the Sierra Nevada mountains. They are closely pursued by the sheriffs of three counties, backed by posses, and assisted by a company of militia. About 20 guards from the Folsom prison are also engaged in the chase. The work of the pursuing posses has been rendered less difficult than was anticipated by the unexpected action of the convicts, who today released all the men they held as hostages. Eleven convicts are now believed to be near Placerville, not far from the mountains, where they evidently hope to find refuge.

The fight at Pilot Hill last night between the convicts and their pursuers seems to have been a more serious affair than was at first reported. After they had looted a provision store, the convicts were practically surrounded by a strong posse. All four horses of the convicts were shot, and one of the criminals was killed outright. The outlaws raised a white flag and marched up the road with the guards and others whom they had captured, on each side of them. A general volley was not ordered for fear of killing the innocent men. Pursuing officers have been instructed to shoot the convicts on sight.

Sacramento, Cal., July 28.—The coroner's jury in the case of W. L. Cotter rendered a verdict of murder against all the convicts who escaped. The inquest was held at Folsom prison.

Carnegie Again

Montreal, July 28.—The Star's London cable says: The Financial Times today heavily scores Andrew Carnegie in regard to his letter to the Times. The Financial Times says: "We can understand that Carnegie, as an American, has no liking for the prospect in Chamberlain's policy, but we cannot understand him, as an American, enjoying English hospitality, complaining and hectoring in this fashion in the English press."

The Financial Times makes fun of his ignorance of the fact that Canada has ice-free ports at Halifax and St. John, and characterizes his suggestion that the United States should share in the preference as "the most impudent paragraph in an impudent letter."

NO MASSACRE.

Denial of Story of Serious Outbreak in Morocco.

London, July 28.—Nothing is known here of the report to the effect that a massacre of Jews has occurred at Of-ran, near Tangier, Morocco. The Morning Leader, of this city, in a despatch from Tangier, publishes a report that the Jewish quarter of Of-ran was looted by Arabs on July 17, that a building was destroyed; that a girl was abducted, and that in a quarrel among her abductors, six Arabs were killed. This is doubtless the basis of the report.

Stimulating The Militia

City Corps Are to Receive Four Days' Training In Camp Each Year.

Commons Railway Committee Held Its Concluding Meeting Yesterday.

Proposed to Amend Tramp Nuisance By Liberal Use of the Lash.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, July 28.—The Ministry of Militia has approved a proposal whereby city corps are to receive four days' training in camp each year. Tactics are to constitute the chief feature of training.

Sir Louis Jetté was here today previous to his departure for England on the Alaska Boundary arbitration. The Commons Railway committee practically held its concluding meeting today. The charter of the Southern Central Pacific Railway Company was reported. J. D. McLennan of Cleveland, E. B. Johnston of Toronto, John Milne of Duluth, and James Whalen of Port Arthur are empowered to construct a line from Vancouver via Kootenay Pass and Saskatchewan to a point on Hudson Bay, at least 100 miles north of Fort Churchill. The application was not opposed, but some members rather ridiculed it. It was stated that the promoters expect to find coal in British Columbia, while the Hudson Bay route, they say, would be the shortest for Western traffic to Europe.

Protests were made in the House today that the British journalists are not being taken to see the fruit growing districts in Ontario. The criminal code was considered in committee for several hours. Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick promised to endeavor to press the tramp nuisance by the use of the lash. It was made a criminal offence for any firm to stamp any trade emblem on Canadian coins. The anti-cigarette clause stood, at Mr. Clark's request, who said if it passed, it would be a source of blackmail against every tobaccoist in Canada. Mr. Morgan wanted glove contests prohibited, but Mr. Fitzpatrick declined to go that far. Mr. Lancaster suggested that the matter be referred to Messrs. Fisher and Sifton. (Great laughter.) Commissioners Britton and Bell leave for the Yukon on Friday to commence the Treadgold investigation.

CASHIER RUINED BY SPECULATION

Gambling in Stocks Responsible For Sad End of Montreal Man.

Montreal, July 28.—On Thursday last, Albert Mournier, cashier in the Recorder's Court office, disappeared, and an examination of his books disclosed a shortage of $800. It was supposed he had gone to the States, until this morning, when his body was found floating in the river at Longueil.

Mournier had been speculating in stocks, and the recent depression resulted in a call for more margin. He secured it by taking the city's money, but it was again wiped out. When the audit time came around exposure could not be avoided. He had not answered to his wife that he owed $8,000 in addition to above amount, and that he could never expect to make the shortage good.

Deceased was formerly manager of one of the local branches of the defunct Banque du Peuple.

OFF THE TRACK.

Immigrant Special on C. P. R. Derailed Near Fort William.

Fort William, Ont., July 28.—(Special)—An immigrant special, which passed through here yesterday afternoon, ran off the track at Dinwiddie early today. The passenger car was derailed and the train was delayed for five hours, and the steamer Manitoba did not sail until late this afternoon.

The cause of the run-off was that a wheel came off the tender of the locomotive hauling the special. No passengers were injured, so far as learned.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Fatal Well-Digging Accident in District Near Regina.

Winnipeg, July 28.—(Special)—While digging a well in the Grand Coulee district, near Regina, a laborer named Norman Armeson was overcome by gas while working in a trench. He called to be hauled up, but when within 20 feet of the top, he seemed to have been overcome, and fell to the bottom, 90 feet. Another man was sent down immediately, but not answering to his call, he was hauled up in an exhausted condition. The body has not yet been recovered.

Winnipeg 20 will be a civic holiday in August.

GRAIN VESSELS AWAITING CROPS

Ocean Liners Finding It Difficult to Obtain Cargo at Montreal.

Montreal, July 28.—Ocean steamships are finding it most difficult to obtain cargo here. The Manitoba grain has been about all shipped out, and American grain is scarce. As a consequence, rates have dropped considerably, and vessel men are taking what they can get. Inland companies are in the same position as the ocean steamers, and this morning the Montreal Transportation Company offered to carry cargo grain from Chicago to Montreal for 3 1/2 cents per bushel. It is not expected that the rate will improve until the new crop begins to find its way to the ocean. Shipments of wheat from Montreal this season to date are over a million and a half bushels in excess of those of the same period last year. The export of wheat is about three million bushels greater.

Do it Now No Idle Talk

A Century of Servian Feuds

Historical Sketch of the Ups and Downs of Petty Royalties.

The Karageorgevitch and Obrenovitch Faction's Deadly Strife.

Modern Servia began its history 102 years ago, when Kara George, a swineherd, placed himself at the head of an army of peasants, drove the Turks out of the kingdom, made himself king, and, in turn, was driven from the throne by a peasant, the son of a house servant, known as Milos Obren.

Thus began the feud between the Karageorgevitch and the Obrenovitch—a history filled with civil strife and assassination.

BLACK GEORGE AS KING.

In 1801 Servia was a Turkish province and had been since the year 1371. The Turkish governor was Hadji Mustapha, to whom history ascribes the credit of being a wise and humane ruler, honored by his Christian subjects. He was well respected by his own people, however, and his janizaries put him to death. The janizaries inaugurated a rule of cruelty and bloodshed, until the Servian peasants were finally goaded into revolt. Thousands of them were massacred.

Among those who escaped was a swineherd named George Petrovitch, who became king by the nickname, Kara (Black) George, because of his swarthy complexion. He is the greatest hero of Servian history, and to him his country owes its independence from the Turks.

Karageorgevitch was an able man and generally respected, but was absolutely illiterate, being unable to read or write, and could not even sign his name. When he became king he used a peculiar cipher, or rubric to show his approval of state papers. But he had natural intelligence and sagacity. His integrity was never questioned and his sense of justice was Spartan. He allowed his own brother to suffer the death penalty as an example to others for defying the authority of the government. While king of Servia he wore an ordinary peasant's garb, because it was more appropriate to his ignorance and simple character than a crown and robe of state and he lived with the same frugality as when he was tending his pigs in the mountains, often cooking his own meals in the palace kitchen.

RESIGNS IN ANGER.

Karageorgevitch drove out the Turks and organized a liberal monarchy in Servia. Appreciating his own deficiencies, the first thing he did was to establish a free public school system in every province, with a university at Belgrade. He introduced courts of justice, reduced taxation, punished corruption, suppressed vice and encouraged the branches of the government with the skill of an experienced statesman; but the people were not able to advance at this rapid pace, and he suffered the fate of many men who have been ahead of their generation. His enemies encompassed him about, and his critics interfered with his plans for the improvement of the country. In a fit of anger and indignation, because his reforms were not welcomed by the Servians, he surrendered the crown in 1814, having reigned for nine years. His life being uneventful, he died.

This flight of Karageorgevitch brought the Turks back to Servia, Belgrade was recaptured and Ottoman rule seemed again firmly established. But among the peasants was another man cast in the mold of a king. This man was a peasant, the son of a house servant, and the next thing to a slave. He had not even a name; but, as was the practice, he assumed the name of his master, and called himself Milos Obren. When Karageorgevitch abdicated, Milos was the second man in the kingdom. The Turks appointed him governor of Belgrade, founder of the family of Obrenovitch, began an intrigue to secure the throne. He induced Karageorgevitch to return to Belgrade and then betrayed him to the Turks. Later, in 1816, Kara George was executed together by the Turks by the hand of an assassin in the pay of Milos Obren. The Karageorgevitch family have always held to the assassination story. Thus began the feud between the Karageorgevitch and the Obrenovitch.

It was not until August 16, 1820, that Milos Obren succeeded in his ambition. But on that day he was formally recognized as the hereditary king of Servia by the Sultan of Turkey.

TRULY AS A DESPOT.

Milos Obren ruled as a despot for 10 years, until the Servian people, rising in revolt, compelled him to abdicate in favor of his son, Milan III., who ascended the Servian throne June 13, 1830.

Milan III. died a month later, and his brother, Michael, succeeded to the crown. Michael Obrenovitch was a king who ruled nearly a century ahead of his time. He was liberal, just, progressive, and introduced many modern improvements into Servia besides carrying on the reforms begun by Karageorge. He built a fine system of roads and highways, erected several good public buildings, laid out parks, houses and an art gallery, all of which were excellent things in their way, but cost money.

It was during his rule that the first conspiracy fomented by the partisans of the Karageorgevitch family succeeded. The peasants were led to rebel against the reforms instituted by Michael Obrenovitch, and September 14, 1842, an uprising of the people drove him from the throne and sent him to exile.

ALEXANDER MADE KING.

Alexander, son of Karageorgevitch, was proclaimed king. He was at that time a lieutenant in the Servian army, was modest, quiet and reserved. In an unexpectant way he continued the reforms of his father, and his education and labors under the delusion that his rule was a vindication of his previous autocratic policy, and his second reign for two years was worse than the first. The death of his father Milos restored his son, Michael Obrenovitch, to the throne. During his exile Michael had traveled much, had studied the art of government in several of the European capitals, had learned foreign languages, and had acquired a taste for education and observation, with his natural abilities, made him a safe and prudent sovereign. He was altogether the best ruler Servia has ever had.

THE KARAGEORGEVITCH PARTISANS.

The Karageorgevitch partisans, however, never ceased their efforts to drive the Obrenovitch from the throne. His second reign marked the end of Turkish authority over Servia, for although Servia was nominally a province of the empire, it was in fact an independent state in 1820, the eultan had always maintained a sort of protectorate over the kingdom. Michael Obrenovitch led a final revolt against the Turks in 1822. The Turks bombarded and captured Belgrade in consequence, Michael Obrenovitch, however, went to Constantinople and was so successful in his negotiations that the Sultan consented to withdraw his every Turkish soldier from Servian soil.

MILAN IV. ON THRONE.

March 30, 1867, the Turks left Servia forever. Michael Obrenovitch was then at the height of his power. But wise as his reign had been, his throne was undermined by his enemies, the Karageorgevitch, and on June 10, 1868, he fell a victim to a band of assassins. The Karageorgevitch did not profit by the assassination of Michael Obrenovitch. Milan IV., the same Milan who afterward shocked the world by his cruel treatment of his queen, the luckless Natalie—ascended the throne. He was the nephew of Michael and an Obrenovitch.

The conspirators failed in their purpose of proclaiming Peter Karageorgevitch only by an accident. They planned to place him on the throne simultaneously with the death of Prince Michael, but their carriage broke down on the way to the palace and the news of the murder of the reigning prince reached Belgrade in advance of the conspirators. The minister of war took prompt action. He arrested every leader of the Karageorgevitch faction he could place his hands on. The principal conspirators were soon in the hands of the Obrenovitch. Several members of the Karageorgevitch family were included in the list, but there was no direct evidence against Peter Karageorgevitch, who was then living a life of retirement in Switzerland.

EXCUTE THE LEADERS.

Events moved swiftly. Prince Michael had been assassinated June 10. A month later 14 leaders of the Karageorgevitch faction were executed. The national assembly was called in special session and a constitution adopted affirming the hereditary rights of the Obrenovitch family of the Servian throne.

Milan IV. ruled at first under a regency, but assumed full power August 22, 1872.

The disasters following the assassination of Prince Michael Obrenovitch, nearly ruined the Karageorgevitch party. Moreover, Servia was involved in its last dispute with Turkey, which led to the war of 1876-78. That war fixed the Obrenovitch family more firmly than ever on the throne of Servia.

From the ascension of King Milan IV. in 1872, the Karageorgevitch faction have never ceased their efforts to regain the throne. But they were never able to weaken the hold of the Obrenovitch, even with the infamous reign of Milan IV. and his son, Alexander, who was recently assassinated in the palace at Belgrade.

Librarian Scholefield Has Many Applications From All Over the Province.

A Fine Assortment of Choice Literature Being Now Prepared For Sending Out.

Over in the provincial library, Mr. E. O. S. Scholefield, provincial librarian, and his staff of assistants are busy making ready a number of the provincial traveling free libraries which have come as a boon and a blessing to many men in the remote and not very accessible portions of the province as well as to very many closer to the capital. Requests for libraries have been received by Mr. Scholefield from the following widely-separated points:

Mother Lode mining camp, Anacosta; Almsworth mining division, headquarters at Almsworth city; Saturna and South Pender Islands; Estherville, E. & N. railway; Lower Sumas, Cumberland; Eburne; Ashcroft; Langley Prairie; Kuper Island and adjacent islands; Ferguson.

Mr. Scholefield, in conversation with a Colonist reporter, said that the experience which he had gained since the traveling libraries began to be sent out was proving of great assistance now in making up the various selections. Formerly, it had been somewhat difficult to know what would suit the tastes of the widely-distributed classes to whom libraries were sent. In some cases where it was thought that something light and amusing would be required, it turned out that the community had felt quite affronted, and demanded intellectual material of much more solid and substantial kind; a demand cheerfully and promptly granted. In other cases action was in request.

As a rule, however, the class of literature generally in demand throughout the province reflected creditably upon the community. The demand for libraries was steadily increasing, and was being met in a satisfactory manner. The universal approval with which the traveling library scheme had been received was exceedingly encouraging to the promoters of this means of disseminating wholesome and improving literature amongst the people.

A representative of the Colonist who accompanied Mr. Scholefield in a brief excursion through the outposts of the library, was struck with the excellent arrangement as well as the fine choice of works. As a reference library it may compare favorably with any in Canada, whilst the selections of works of general literature, of volumes more immediately concerning the discovery and history of this coast, is admirable. Year by year the provincial library is growing into an institution of special usefulness of which the province may be justly proud. To all who prize accuracy and who must consult works of reference which would very often be far beyond their means, the provincial library is a real godsend.

The courteous alacrity with which the librarian and his assistants attend to the wants of the regular or casual visitor is not the least pleasing circumstance in a visit to the library.

THE ANTIDOTE TO MOSQUITOES.

Child of the rain and the sun, the mosquito sings her war cry louder than ever and slays her tens of thousands. The chief bugbunny of New Jersey, the intrepid man of science who was going to slay the mosquito, and who, in the summer, has been pursued by her with a violence that shows her sense of humor. His home is surrounded by detachments of mosquitoes, who are sharp-shooting and deadly. He is surrounded and sternly yelling. "He counts not well who leaves us out." Jerseymen recall the fate of Bishop Hatto in the Mouse Tower and shudder.

All the Oranges are besieged all day and night by the main army. The ladies of Mountclair, a commissary station on the Mosquito route, are going about with loss sticks on their heads. Alas for those lovely consorts! The mosquitoes, who are so much more numerous than ever before, are now more numerous than ever before.

But there is balm for the victims. Why rage and curse at these little pests? When Boston people are on the edge of snore, they repeat this noble editorial proposition: "Forget self and self-suffering in meditation upon the mysterious chemistry of Nature, which by the utilization of caloric, transforms a little, yellow uninteresting horny kernel into a tiny stalk that grows like the fabulous vine of the beanstalk, that bedecks itself with lance-like leaves and with glossy silken tassels, and which suddenly holds out with its long hands for the multitude, scenes of milky sweetness in their adolescent days and arsenals of practical poison in their maturity."

So, when the Orange shrill jabs you, think how the corn is growing. As the lance punctures you, console yourself with visions of lance-like leaves and glossy silken tassels in the Corn Belt. As the mosquitoes charge with all their divinity and close your other eye, hold to the hand of fairy corn of milky sweetness. What says Omar?

For this same heat that makes the Skeeter bite, Is stalks and inches to the Western corn.

Let us meditate upon the mysterious chemistry of Nature.

"Did you ever take out apoplexy?" "Yes," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes; "last season we did nothing but figure on railroad rates, hotel bills and the payroll."—Washington Star.

Mrs. Von Frenster—How does this "New thought" compare with the other religions, Professor Deepdip? "Professor Deepdip—Oh, my dear madame, it is so delightfully inexpensive—Live."

Football Coach—But why do you insist on engaging that new fullback? He has no reputation for good play.

Football Captain—No reputation for good play? Why, you don't know what you're talking about. He scored last year was twenty-seven men disabled—five broken legs, six dislocated shoulders, ten injured spines, and the other six he spiked so badly that they couldn't finish the season!—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

"Have you any particular reason for refusing me?" asked the repulsed suitor, rising from the ground and carefully brushing the dust spots from his knees.

"Certainly!" said the sweet young thing. "You don't suppose I'm going to cut myself out of all this fun by accepting you the first time?"—Baltimore American.

— VICTORIA, B. C.

Every tourist to Santa Fe goes to look at the oldest dwelling house in the United States. It is a low abode structure to the left of the old church of San Miguel. When Coronado and his "conquistadores" swept up this plateau, in the middle of the sixteenth century, they found an Indian pueblo on the site of Santa Fe. This house is the only one remaining of that old Indian village. It once had a second story and perhaps three or four, after the habit of the Pueblo Indians, who built houses upon the roofs of those below and went up and down outside by ladder. This house has been continuously used as a dwelling place from that day to this, and is occupied by a Mexican family today.

Brings News Of The Behring Sea

Revenue Cutters Commencing Their Patrol of the Northern Sealing Grounds.

Life Preserver of North Pacific at Foul Bay—Another Oriental Line.

Some days ago news was received from sealers on the Japanese sealer Seifu Maru, from Attu, that officers of one of the revenue cutters had told them that seals were plentiful in Behring Sea this year. According to an officer of the revenue cutter Manning, though, seals are none too plentiful at the rookeries, though they may be in the sea. The officer writes that the new seal rookeries reported to have been discovered in the Aleutian Islands are being visited by the revenue cutter Manning, which left Seattle three weeks ago, under orders from the treasury department to make a cruise and investigate the reports.

According to this officer, the fur seals in the Pribilof Islands are scarce this year, and it is thought they have found other rookeries in the extreme western Aleutian Islands. As soon as the Manning concludes her present mission she will make a cruise of the islands, working on the theory that numerous other rookeries exist.

The cutter Bear arrived in Behring Sea about July 1, and for two weeks patrolled those waters, returning to Dutch Harbor July 16, and leaving again the next day. During the present summer the Bear will patrol the Pribilof Islands, to see that the sealers stay within the limits.

The revenue cutter McCulloch arrived at Dutch Harbor July 18, and the following day began coaling preparatory to leaving for St. Michael to receive on board the congressional delegation now investigating the conditions in Alaska.

The naval fleet, comprising the New York, Marblehead, Bennington and Fort, arrived at Dutch Harbor July 16, and the following day started on a cruise to the westward among the Aleutian Islands to make surveys and investigate sites for proposed coaling stations.

The oldest hunters on the islands of Attu and Adkins report, the letter says, that foxes are very scarce this year, and that sea otter are so few that they are considered curios when caught. This is the first time in the history of the islands that this condition existed, and, in fact, heretofore, the animals were always plentiful. It is believed the great rise in the price of these skins has induced hunters to renewed vigor, with the result that they are becoming extinct.

The letters give no news of the arrival of any of the Victoria sealers, and it is not thought that they had arrived when the mail left, the vessels having sailed late. The schooner Eva Marie, Captain Jacobsen, which was obliged to return because of her failure to get Indians, hauled in to Turner-Beech's wharf yesterday to land her stores.

The mail received from Dutch Harbor was brought by the San Francisco steamer Homer, Capt. A. Donaldson, which arrived at Seattle on Monday from the Aleutian Islands, where she conveyed from Portland and material and equipment for the light-house service, to be established just above Unimak Pass, on the Behring Sea side. She returned by way of Dutch Harbor, leaving that port July 19. Her animals report work on the light-house progressing satisfactorily.

The Homer sails to-day for Portland, from which port she will probably take another cargo of light-house material for Alaska.

FOR ANOTHER LINE.

Japanese Steamboatmen Looking For Business on Pacific Coast.

It is not improbable that another line of steamers in the Pacific service, running to Puget Sound or Portland, probably via Victoria, from the Orient. Sadasaburo Nakamura, a business man of Hokkaido, Japan, general manager of the Sulphur Mining Company, with headquarters at that city, is visiting Pacific Coast ports feeling the mercantile pulse with a view to placing the company's steamships upon a run between this coast and Japanese ports.

The corporation owns three steamships, the largest of 2,500 tons the remaining two of 1,500 to 2,000 tons each. The wish of the general manager is to send the vessels to some Pacific Coast port, laden with sulphur, and return them with salmon, general merchandise, timber, flour and such other commodities as will prove profitable. The production of sulphur from the company's property is about 15,000 tons annually, and coal is exported by the firm also. Salmon is scarce in Japan, and other things are difficult to obtain in any quantity.

FOUND LIFE PRESERVER.

One of North Pacific's Found Floating Four Feet Below Surface.

While trolling for salmon at Foul Bay Mr. O'Rourke found one of the straw-filled life preservers of the sunken steamer North Pacific, which had evidently drifted from the scene of the wreck off Marrowstone Point. The fact that the life preserver was floating four or five feet below the surface of the water when found is sufficient to show how useful it would have been to a drowning man.

Rumor has it that a new vessel is to be constructed to succeed the ill-fated North Pacific, wrecked last week. The new boat will have a model similar to the Mainlander, also owned by Cook & Co., but will be a trifle larger. She is expected to be in commission next spring.

JEANIE'S ESCAPE.

Struck Rock Off Montague Island When Bound North.

Steamer Jeanie of the Pacific Packing & Navigation Company, has arrived at Seattle from Nome, after a tedious voyage, having had a narrow escape en route as a result of striking a submerged rock off the west end of Montague Island. She left Nome on June 28th. Her crew were badly sprung from striking the rock, and the vessel was reported leaking at the rate of a foot an hour, requiring active work at the pumps to keep her afloat. The water was entering in a hole in the hull of the steamer near the forefoot. Capt. Mason reported that the steamer struck on July 13th during a fog, and was floated without difficulty and proceeded to Orea.

REINSURANCE RATES RAISED.

Grave Fears For the Long Overdue American Ship Helen Brewer.

The reinsurance rates has raised another ten per cent, on the long overdue American ship Helen Brewer, 147 days out from Sourabaya, Java, for Delaware Breakwater, and fifty per cent, is now being offered by the underwriters to insure her risks. The fears of the underwriters are increased by the fact that the Helen Brewer was ashore on the Island of Java a few hours after having left the harbor. She was floated and reported undamaged at the yards of the insurance men are of the opinion that the ship was strained in running ashore, and sprung a leak. Others, however, believe that the delay is caused from slow sailing by reason of the fog bottom which the vessel was known to have when she left the island.

MONGOLIA LAUNCHED.

Thirteen Thousand Ton Steel Steamer For Pacific Mail.

The steamship Mongolia, built for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, was launched on Saturday at the yards of the New Jersey Shipbuilding Company. The Mongolia is the second largest ship ever built in the United States. She is to be used in the Philippine and China trade. Her sister ship, the Manchuria, will be launched in October.

The Mongolia was originally intended for the Atlantic Transport Company, but was purchased by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The dimensions of the new steamship are: Length, 615 feet 8 inches; breadth, 65 feet; depth, 33 feet 3 inches; indicated horsepower, 12,000; speed, 16 knots; displacement, 26,512 tons; gross tonnage, 13,500; passenger capacity, first cabin, 350; second cabin, 68; steerage, 1,300.

When laden she will draw thirty-two feet of water. The Mongolia is constructed wholly of steel.

MARINE NOTES.

The Southern Pacific Railway Company, which has been regularly shipping Carbon Hill coal from Tacoma to San Francisco for use on the road, has now contracted for the entire output of the Carbon Hill mines, and no more of this coal will be disposed of locally or to other steamships. The coal will be shipped on the steamers San Mateo and Minnow.

Steamer Unatilla, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, arrived at the ocean dock yesterday afternoon, twelve hours late from San Francisco, having been delayed by head winds. She brought a large complement of passengers. Steamer City of Puebla arrived for San Francisco last night. The passengers booked here were E. G. Thomas, Mrs. Thomas, Geo. Wilson, J. L. Burgwald, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. J. J. Clark, Miss Kito, Miss E. Borney, Mrs. G. C. Ives, Miss Stetson, Miss A. Shares, Miss A. T. Slane, Mr. Clark and two children, and Mrs. M. Morran.

The San Francisco Examiner says that the Pacific Mail Company has made an announcement that it had recently lost in consequence of the steamer now going on between the big steamship companies plying between this port and the Orient; as accept 60 per cent, less than its former charges if the business of the firm were restored to it.

High School Examinations

List of the Successful Candidates in the Recent Tests.

Rossland Wins High Honors in the Interesting Contest.

The results of the High school examinations, held on July 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12, at the High school building, have just been announced. The total number of candidates was 227, of whom 74 wrote in Victoria, 76 in Vancouver, 22 in New Westminster, 10 in Nanaimo, 10 in Esquimalt, 5 in Rossland, and 5 in Cumberland. The rural and private schools furnished 61 candidates.

It will be observed that the highest mark made by the student of Rossland; in fact, the Rossland High school did particularly well in the examination just closed, especially when one considers that this High school was established barely two years ago.

FOREIGN CAPITAL IN MEXICO.

The following extracts relating to enterprises of the United States in Mexico, embodied in the report of United States Consul-General A. D. Barlow, of Mexico City, published December 22nd, 1902, in advance sheets of consular reports.

The amount of United States capital invested in Mexico, in 1902, was $500,000,000 gold. This amount has practically all been invested in the past quarter of a century, and about one-half of it has been invested within the last five years.

The impetus given to Mexican industries by this enormous concentration of working capital accounts in no small degree for the great industrial progress which it has made during the past twenty years. With Mexico having 68 per cent of all her imports from the United States, and selling 80 per cent of all her exports to the United States, and with this enormous investment of United States capital in Mexico, the commercial bond between the sister republics is one that can hardly be broken, and is constantly growing in strength. The flow of U. S. capital into this republic has apparently only begun, as each year Mexico buys more from and sells more to the United States.

A Montreal syndicate after spending $7,000,000 successfully exploiting electric light and power and waterworks in Brazil, has obtained a similar concession from President Diaz in the valley of Mexico and is spending $2,000,000 gold. From the national Bureau of American Republics.

The Provincial Political Situation

Novel Condition of Affairs to Be Noted Throughout British Columbia.

Party Lines Seems to have Puzzled all the Politicians.

In the city, political conditions are practically unchanged from the position in which they were last week. While earnest consultation and organization are proceeding as briskly as ever, there are no new moves to record from either side. To all questions as to "who gets the job?" Mr. W. V. B. McInnes, who recently returned from Ottawa, wearing a most lowering smile, replies by turning on the said knowing smile fortissimo, accompanied by an equally knowing wink of the left eye—which means much to the initiated.

Interviews, confabs, conferences and other means of swapping opinions produce nothing definite. On all hands, however, one hears the remark that the declaration of that Socialist member of the severing of many old ties. Men who labored side by side for the party for years, now find themselves compelled to regard each other as political antagonists in provincial politics, and it goes hand in hand with the grain. On the other hand, men who have been opponents for years see themselves expected to march shoulder to shoulder against old friends, and the unmanliness of it is only the half before the storm, and that within a fortnight action may be expected all along the line. J. I. Hawley, who has just returned from Vancouver, City, returned home on Monday from a visit to Victoria, where he was in close consultation with the chiefs of the Socialist party here. He still expresses his doubts as to his ability to win Nanaimo, whether opposed by one of the two party candidates. Conversations with well known Liberals in the city go to show that brotherly love does not extend to an alarming extent in the camp of the Grays. Not a few of them have discovered a violent antipathy toward Senator Templeman, and are ready to swear that should the Grays receive so handsome a whitewashing as to render him politically unrecognizable ever after. Why the Grays have "gone over" the former chief is not easy to ascertain, but it is learned that it is not unreasonably connected with kicking down a ladder on which a certain socialist member of the party was standing. The socialist member, who was publicly interrogated by a Colonist reporter yesterday afternoon at the government buildings as to any changes in the complexion of political parties, shook his head and declared that the government were very busy attending to affairs of the province at present.

Victoria Socialists are making ready for a hot campaign. The expected hot campaign of the Socialists will contest as many seats throughout the province in the coming election. Mr. G. Weston Wrigley, leader of the Victoria Socialist party, in reply to a question from a Colonist representative yesterday afternoon, said that he was fully confident that at least eight out of the list of 16 Socialist candidates would be elected. The party, Mr. Wrigley declared, was making progress at a rate that would astonish many who took up his claims to notice. As already announced in these columns, Mr. J. C. Fatters will contest Victoria as the standard-bearer of the Socialists, and since that announcement, another definite selection of a Socialist candidate for Victoria has been made in the person of Mr. Chapman. The renegade Socialists, who have been in the few days, completing the Socialist ticket. Mr. Wrigley says that the Socialist campaign is being planned with the utmost care, and that the party's exact forces, brought to bear upon Mr. Hawthorthwaite to induce him to contest some other seat than Nanaimo, are being quite well. A number of the party are mentioned as a not unlikely constituency for Mr. Hawthorthwaite's efforts.

Arrangements are being made by the renegade party to open up a committee room on Government street, over the Army and Navy Cigar store. It is expected that the Liberals will follow suit in due time.

"You say you are going to the city for rest and quiet?"

"Yes," answered the rural Kentucky belle, "I am just going to get a little rest and quiet, and I am taking a little moonshine liquor and is polishing his Winchester, and mother and I have decided that we want to go to some lone some far-away place like Chicago or New York."—Washington Star.

BUSY WITH FALL FAIR MATTERS

Executive of Agricultural Association Arranging For Exhibits.

The executive of the British Columbia Agricultural Association met at Supervisor Oddy's office last night at 8 o'clock, there being present: His Worship the Mayor, Aldermen Yates, Dr. Toimie, Mr. Norris and Mr. Baker.

Alderman Yates, the chairman of the executive, reported on the progress of the report of his committee, giving an estimate of the expenses. This report was laid over for further consideration and until the reports had been handed in from the other departments.

A letter was received from the secretary, Frank I. Clarke, of the Victoria Branch of the Provincial Mining Association, asking for an appropriation for the mineral exhibit, which they were willing to take in charge. Mr. Lamb attended the meeting and explained the full intention of the Mining Association. He stated that the Association in addition to making a mineral exhibit, intended to spend the time to make it instructive and attractive by introducing a working model of a mine, and small working models of cars and machinery.

The secretary was instructed to communicate with the Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce and Tourist Association, asking them to appoint a committee of three from each of their respective boards to meet this executive if possible within ten days, for the purpose of discussing and arranging an exhibit representative of the manufacturing interests.
